HEAVY PRESSURE SALES FORCE ALL STOCKS DOWN

General List Gives Way When Pro-fessionals Make Large Offerings of Industrials.

PAPER HOLDINGS LIQUIDATED

Railway Group Recovers From Early Raids and Moves Into New Territory - Commission Houses Are Active in Selling.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The general stock list gave way and sagged to-day under the persistent and heavy offerings of industrial shares that has been going on the last week. Offerings of the industrials have been largely for the account of professional traders, but it was not until late yesterday when the banks began calling loans on industrial shares that the weakness became most pronounced. Many persons have been holding the industrial issues in the hope that their large paper losses would in the end be reduced by a general reaction upward, but the decline has reached the print where the margins have been impaired and many were unable to hold on any longer today, with the result that they were forced to liquidate.

Success in the industrial list spurred the professionals on to raiding the railroad department in the late afternoon. This imparted a weak tone to the entire list, and substantial reactions occurred in the railroad group which early in the day, under leadership of Northern Pacific, moved into new territory.

Commission houses have been taking very little part recently in the increased activity in the stock market, but there was considerable selling by those firms in the morning. As the comraission heuses have not been very active in the rails, offerings yesterday represented, for the most part, industrial issues, many of which have been carried for months in the hope of a substantial recovery.

Loans on call renewed at 3 per cent, but the rate moved to 10 per cent before the close. One faint ray of sunshine was received from Boston, where it was said that some time leans had been made at 71-2 per cent, wall Street has been expecting for weeks that money would become easier, because of reduced production and liquidation of inventories, indications are of a general casing in money rates after December 1 next, according to a prominent banker.

The general list closed heavy around the lowest prices of the day, around the lowest prices of the day.

Weekly Cotton.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A good part of pre-election rallies in the cotton market were lost before the 15se of business tonight. Neither the settlement of the British coal strike nor like ending of the presidential cambaign seemed to inspire any broadening of demand. This was doliness a disappointment to recent buyers of futures in the market here, while reports of increased Southern hedge selling suggested that it also had made an unfavorable impression among holders of spot cotton in the South.

Aside from these features the late weak market was also influenced by reports of increasing mili curtailment by Southern yarn spinners, weakness in foreign exchange, good weather in the South and bearish private ginning returns. The latter indicated a ginning of 7.280,000 bales prior to November 1, compared with 6305,654 to the same date last year and were also said it point to an indicated rop of 12.750,000 compared with 12.130,000, the official ond—September indication. On the whole, however, crop and weather news has received very little comment, the attention of traders being almost completely centered on the news from the goods trade and immediate marketing conditions for spot cotton.

End October clearances were large, bringing the total reports for the season up to or a shade over last year's figures, but since the October engagements were filled, it is supposed that spot demand has fallen off. According to local spot brokers there are good sized commitments for November and December shipment but yery little fresh buying for either domestic and foreign account.

The question raised by local bears Aside from these features the late is whether the South, particularly the Eastern belt, has sold enough of its crop to justify confidence in the holding movement for sustaining advances should trade demand fall to improve and this was emphasized by the increased hedge selling reported toward the end of the week, although a considerable demand for trade account was reported on a scale down. Some of the spot men here are predicting increased use of low grades, owing to an easier labor situation and improved machinery for cleaning cotton.
